

Projeto Arcomusical (Gregory Beyer, Daniel Eastwood, Kyle Flens, Alexis C. Lamb, Ethan Martin, Raychel Taylor) is a world music sextet reimagining the Afro-Brazilian berimbau through a repertoire of unique, powerful concert chamber music. Projeto Arcomusical formed in 2013 specifically to interpret MeiaMeia, the collaborative composition cycle co-composed by ensemble members Gregory Beyer and Alexis C. Lamb. MeiaMeia is released on Innova Recordings and available globally.

* * *

Arcomusical is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization that advocates the awareness and artistic advancement of the Afro-Brazilian berimbau and related African musical bows. Arcomusical's mission is supported by six pillars of activity:

performance
education
composition
publication
research
community

"It doesn't take a lot to make beautiful music...sometimes all it takes is one single string."

- Maggie Molloy, Second Inversion